CREDIT FOR PRIOR LEARNING – CAEL/LEARNING COUNTS

Prior Learning Portfolio/Learning Counts: Available to matriculated adult students with five years of professional experience that aligns with Carlow University courses. Upon successful completion of a three credit portfolio development course CAEL 100, students will be able to: identify areas of their own learning from numerous settings such as training, work, community volunteering, and self-study; describe learning from experience, reflect on the learning, and synthesize ideas and the ideas of others; build a deep understanding of lifelong learning; discuss and apply experiential learning theory, models, and concepts; apply critical reflection to consider the nature and value of learning from experience; demonstrate an appropriate balance of practical and theoretical understanding; prepare learning narratives that demonstrate learning comparable to college level courses; identify research, gather, organize, and write documentation that supports learning in order to build a learning portfolio. Portfolio credits may be earned in all Carlow University courses with the exception of the following: major courses (SW prefix) within the Bachelor of Social Work; no major courses (NU prefix) within the Bachelor of Science in Nursing except for NU 413 and NU 420; no major courses (RC prefix) in the Bachelor of Science in Respiratory Care.

CAEL 100, which satisfies credits toward the residence requirement, is taught in an instructor-led, interactive online environment and includes forums, case studies, and written assignments which facilitate the building of a learning portfolio. Major topics include: Prior Learning Assessment (PLA), tacit versus explicit learning, Bloom's Taxonomy, the Kolb Model, and experiential learning theory. There are no additional fees or charges for CAEL 100 and one portfolio submission. Additional portfolio submissions are assessed a fee that is paid by the student directly to Learning Counts. A student may earn a maximum of 30 credits via prior learning portfolio submission.
